

Dear friends and valued supporters,

Get ready for some breaking news!

Christ's College's controversial library redevelopment plans have just been delivered a knockout blow. Anglian Water has issued a holding objection with serious legal clout, citing critical infrastructure failures and scuppering the College's multimillion-pound ambitions until at least July 2026. Their blunt warning: "Any connection into our foul network... will contribute to pollution and deterioration of the watercourse."

This isn't just a setback for the College; it's a powerful testament to our collective voice. We've even landed on the front page of the Cambridge Independent (full article attached below).

Our message is out there, loud and clear!

---

👹 The sewage crisis is the perfect symbol for what we've been fighting against:

- Disregard for our public realm
- Harm to Cambridge's heritage
- Endangerment of basic pedestrian safety

Residents, traders, and Historic England have all warned about the looming, overbearing bulk of the proposed megadevelopment.

"They keep selling this as progress, but all we see is yet another project that ignores the people who actually live and work here. If the drains can't cope, neither can the city." — Christ's Lane shopkeeper

Anglian Water's objection has literally piled sewage on top of Christ's College's public-realm failures, proving our campaign's points were spot on.

---

✅ This is a victory — but the fight isn't over.

It's time to press our advantage. Let's keep this incredible momentum going:

📅 Mark your calendars: Guildhall, Sept 11 at 11am – Attend the Developer Control Forum (the Agenda for the meeting has now been uploaded).

📄 Object online: Planning Ref. [25/02161/FUL] via the Cambridge Planning Portal

👉 Sign & share (30 seconds): Petition against Christ College's Mega-Building, the "Factory-Library" in the centre of Cambridge

📣 Spread the word like wildfire

---

Together, we are proving that Cambridge deserves respect, not arrogance disguised as progress.

Let's keep pushing.

In solidarity,

The CLAG Team

 Screenshot 2025-09-03 at 18.58.52.png